Introducing HoloLens

What is HoloLens?

HoloLens is the first self-contained holographic computer, enabling you to interact with high-definition holograms in your world.

A fully untethered experience, HoloLens needs no external wires, markers, or cameras, nor a connection to a phone or PC, so you can move freely.

HoloLens runs Windows 10, the premier platform to connect, work, and play in mixed reality.

The image features a large, bold, black sans-serif logo for 'JUNGHEINRICH' centered across the frame. A red arrow points upwards from the 'J'. The background is a blurred photograph of a warehouse interior, showing a man in a grey t-shirt and blue jeans walking towards the camera, and a yellow and grey Jungheinrich automated guided vehicle (AGV) moving away from the camera. The warehouse has high ceilings and blue metal shelving units filled with boxes.
